Fleece Wool Defined.

Fleece wool will be considered as that grown east of the Mississippi, also in Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, also those $841.055, Outbuildings $9,170, standparts of Kansas, Nebraska, North nig timber $3,865, unimproved town Dakota and other localities where the same general conditions prevail. All wool not listed as fleece wool shall be considered territory wool.

Approved dealers will be entitled to a gross profit in no case to exceed one and one-half cents per pound on the total season's business, this profit to cover expenses from grower to loading wool on board cars. The grower shall receive fair prices for his wool based on the Atlantic seaboard price as established on July 30, 1917, less the profit to the dealer as stated above and less freight to seaboard, moisture shrinkage and interest.

In no case shall this be construed to mean that there shall be more than one and one-half cents gross profits made from time wool leaves growers' hands until it arrives at the distributing center.

Growers who desire to do so, will be allowed to pool their clips in quantities of not less than minimum carloads of 16,000 pounds and consign the wools so pooled as one account to any approved dealers in any approved distributing center. Growers are urged to adopt this latter course through county agents or others, thus eliminating the profits of one middle man.

In addition to said prices the government is to pay a further sum equal to four per cent of the selling prices to cover compensation or commission to approved dealers for their services in collecting and distributing wool. On wool not taken by the government for its own use and which may be of last week. Fifty candidates for about Rockport, "who was under senalloted for other uses, prices will also be fixed in accordance with July four at Hartford and six at Bowling for murder," had been paroled. ### FOOD SCARCITY IS REPORT IN GERMANY

Believed That Famine Is At Hand To Join The Allies

London, May 23 .- "I feel confident that the time is at hand when famine-stark medieval famine-will join the entente as a political and military ally against Germany and Austria," the correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphs from Annemasse, in France, near the Swiss border.

The correspondent says he draws this conclusion from oral statements by an authentic witness whose observations extended up to the end of April. The great masses of the German and Austrian people, this informant declares, are more than sick of the war. They think and talk of nothing but bread, and their morale is so low that the governments are fearful of Bolsheviki movements.

Among the incident given in support of the story of terrible want is the case of two prisoners of war employed at the gas works at Vienna, who he declares, were murdered by fellow workers who ate part of their bodies. The Arbeiter Zeitung, of Vienna demanded an investigation, and the entire issue was confiscated in consequence. The affair was referred to in parliament, but was hushed up in the Vienna press.

Faint From Hunger.

The narrator said he and his family had lived for weeks almost entirely on mushrooms gathered in a forest outside the town in which he dwelt.

"People often faint in the streets from hunger," he continued. "The health of many is such that they can hardly stand, to say nothing of work, and things are getting worse every day. Even the soldiers do not have sufficient food. They are not only sick of war, but thoroughly apathetic regarding it. It is a common sight to see soldiers begging for food. Everybody is convinced that the expected food relief from Ukraine is mirage. 'Only another Prussian swindle,' they say.

"The three worst months-June, July and August-are yet to come. Last year there was almost nothing to eat in those months but cucumbers and fruit. Typhus and dysentery became epidemic. The people are shuddering at the prospect of these three months now.'

As far as they dare, the dispatch continues, the people jeer at the talk of smashing the British and French and at the submarine campaign, the only result of which they see has been to add America to their enemies. Every one made fun of President Wilson as a pedant, the correspondent adds, but the people are now chang-America is in earnest.

THE WOMAN TEMPTED ME AND I YIELDED

Age-Old Story Told By Man In Murder Trial Of Woman.

Waukesha, Wis., May 17 .- Dr. David Roberts took the witness stand to-day as the accuser of Grace Lusk, on trial charged with the murder of his wife.

"She tempted me," was the burden of all his testimony.

"Oh, that is not true," the defendant cried as she struggled from her seat despite hands that tried to restrain her.

"She asked me if I loved her and I answered that I honored and respected her," he swore, as he bared the story of their relations from the time they first met at the home of a mutual friend in July, 1914, until he found his wife dying with two bullets in her body three years later.

"I want you to tell me that you love me more than anyone else in the world, and I want you to tell Mrs. Roberts so," he testified she said to him at one of their meetings which had been sought by her.

"I said absolutely no and she struck me in the face as hard as she could," he added.

Met Her In Hotels.

Later he told of meeting her in Chicago and Milwaukee hotels and produced letters she had written to him and one written by her to Mrs. Roberts, which he had intercepted before its delivery.

"I have begged him to go to you and tell you the situation frankly, for I have felt that you were a big enough woman to desire his happiness," the letter to Mrs. Roberts read. "If he does not care enough for me to do that, it is I who have been made the plaything, then I am afraid I shall call him to account.

"Wouldn't it have been much simpler if instead of intimidating your husband you had faced matters frankly and squarely and given him his freedom when you lose his confidence and all?

"It is he who has been made not truthful, and I who have lost my one and only reputation that you might keep your throne. It really isn't quite fair, is it?"

In June, 1917, he testified, she demanded that he meet her in a Milwaukee hotel and he did so only after she had threatened to tell his wife of their relations and to "make a case for Attorney Lockney."

At this meeting he said she produced a revolver, which afterward was identified as the same one with which she later shot his wife and herself, and pointing it at his head not put your hand on that Bible and each member of the family, or of "I will shoot you dead if you do swear that you love me and will tell your wife.

Dr. Roberts said that he complied. After his first meeting with Miss Lusk, Dr. Roberts said he met her several times at church suppers. In March, 1915, he said he called her on the telephone to ask her assistance with a book he was writing on animal diseases.

The same day, he said, at her request he went to her office in the Y. M. C. A. to discuss the subject. As he was leaving he declares that she told him "that she had been expecting a letter from a sweetheart in Milwaukee and it made her mad."

"She then asked me if I loved her," he testified, "when I said, 'Miss Lusk, I honor you and I respect you,' she said. 'I dont't care to be honored or respected. There are other things that I want.' I said, 'What do you want?" And she said. 'I want you to take me to Chicago for a good time.' She said, 'Other people do those things and I don't see why we can't.'

It was at this point that Miss Lusk leaped to her feet with the frantic denial which electrified the courtroom. After staring straight at the witness with tearfilled eyes, she turned and sank sobbing into her father's arms.

Later on cross-examination Dr. Roberts, in again describing the incident, said that he had also told her: "I am a stranger to you and you are a stranger to me. If you wait a year you won't want to go to Chicago with me."

In telling of the events immediately preceding the tragedy Dr. Roberts told of a visit made to his house Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Comon the eve of the shooting. He said that Miss Lusk asked if he had told his wife as he had sworn to do, West Philadelphia, Pa. and he said that he had not, but that he would at once.

After walking back through the park with her when he succeeded in inducing her to return to her home the witness said that he went to his the witness said that he went to his wife and told her that "Miss Lusk women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done. asked me to tell you that she is infatuated with me."

As a result Mrs. Roberts decided that she would see Miss Lusk alone, he said, despite his efforts to arrange a meeting through another woman who was a friend of the two, and so the next day she went to the Mills home. Shortly afterward his wife called him on the telephone and arrived she was unconscious with a bullet in her heart and died a few minutes later.

The only emotion exhibited by Dr. Roberts throughout the day was a constant moistening of his lips and a hard grip on the arm of the witness

Near the end of the session, however, when he was telling of finding the body of his wife, he broke down and sobbed. At this brief point the court ordered a brief recess so that he could regain his composure.

On direct examination, although instructed by the court that he need not answer questions which might tend to incriminate him, Dr. Roberts told in detail of his relations with Miss Lusk and of several meetings with her in Milwaukee and Chicago hotels.

Dr. Roberts was called to the witness stand unexpectedly by the State in the morning session of court after two physicians had testified that Miss Lusk, from descriptions of her conduct following the shooting, might have been insane at the time.

Throughout the day the courtroom was filled to overflowing with spectators, more than two-thirds of them being women.

The court adjourned with Dr. Roberts still on the stand and his examination will be continued to-mor-

BIG BIRTHDAY DINNER.

The biggest birthday dinner ever given by a citizen of Ohio county was the entertainment of 175 of his friends by Mr. John Smiley, of the Taffy neighborhood, Saturday.

Mr. Smiley in some way learned that his children were planning a surprise birthday dinner for him, and decided to take the matter in hand himself and make it worth while. 'He had two sheep and a goat barbecued, and other things in proportion, and invited a great number of his friends to share the feast with him. One hundred and seventy five people sat down to the tempting feast spread on the beautiful lawn of his elegant home, and but for the rain of the morning the number would have been much larger. The occasion was turned into a Red Cross meeting, and speeches were made by Rev. A. D. Litchfield and County farm agent Browder. The forty eighth birthday of John Smiley will long be pleasantly remembered by his numerous friends who shared his generous hospitality.

Those present from Hartford were: Rowan Holbrook, S. O. Keown, James Bare, A. D. Kirk, Rev. A. D. Liechfield, R. B. Martin, Ed Barrass, W. W. Browder.

LONG TOMS MORE DEADLY THAN RANGE GUNS

Paris, April 26 .- The long-range bombardment of Paris already has cost more lives than the shelling of the city from January 5, 1871, to January 27 of the same year, when the city capitulated. During the three weeks of the 1871 bombardment there were 102 killed and 291 wounded among them 71 children. In the first week of the present bombardment one shell alone killed 85 persons and wounded nearly 200.

In 1871 Paris was an invested city; to-day it is not. The German methods, however, were the same. On January 8 and 9, 1871, the German guns concentrated their fire on the Hospital de la Pitie, which was filled with sick and wounded. The fire was steadily maintained upon the hospital until neutral nations protested to Bismarck. The Chancellor, however, dismissed their pretest with this re-

Brood X Due in 1919.

While the expected brood is not an important one and does not cover very much territory, it is interesting as the forerunner of the largest of all broods of the cicada, namely, Brood X, which will appear in May and June, 1919, and which, in a general way, surrounds the area occupied by the brood of this year and invades nearly a score of States.

Damage Done and Partial Remedies. Within the territory covered by this brood the amount of damage probably will be small and will be limited for the most part to young orchards. The damage to forested areas is negligible.

Ordinary repellent substances, such as kerosine emulsion or carbolic-acid solutions, seem to have very little effect in preventing the oviposition of these insects. Some recent experiments, however, indicates that trees mixture or a lime wash are likely to be avoided by the cicada, especially if there are other trees or woods in the neighborhood on which they can oviposit.

The most reliable means of protecting nurseries and young orchards is by collecting the insects in bags or umbrellas from the trees in early silage or green feed. It yields heaviumbrellas from the trees in early morning or late evening, when they are somewhat torpid. Such collections should be undertaken at the first appearance of the cicada and repeated each day.

Vigorous young trees often recover in three or four years from the effects of a loss of, or injury to, a considerable percentage of their branches. However, it is difficult to overcome the unsymmetrical appearance which will commonly result from the indiscriminating pruning often necessary as a result of the female insects work.

Treatment of Affected Limbs. The worst affected branches should he removed. The less injured limbs

It may be expedient, in the case of a badly wounded recently budded or grafted tree, to cut it back nearly to the bud or graft, so that an entirely new top may be made.

In the case of older trees the main object of treatment is to secure the rapid healing of the wounds and prevent their being used as points of secondary infection by other insects. EQUIPMENT BIG FACTOR.

Besides the saving in farm labor due to the use of large-sized teams and equipment, there is the gain, sometimes very great, due to being enabled to cover more acres per day, both in the preparation of the soil for planting and in the harvesting of the crops. The difference of a few days during unfavorable weather is often the deciding factor between a good crop and a poor crop. The former does not need to be told that the seasons for many farm operations are exceedingly short, particularly in the Northern States, and that the successful farmer is the one who is prepared to make the best possible use of the time when it is ripe. The maximum use of teams and of labor is a big factor in attaining this end.

MORE FORAGE CROPS NEEDED.

Increase of forage crop production can be accomplished by increasing the average yield of alfalfa and thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux, other perennial crops and a larger use of summer annual crops. This advice is being sent by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture to farmers in the region af-> ly and is of good quality. Sudan grass will produce a much larger amount of good forage under irrigation than any other grass, and as it is an annual it is especially serviceable for quick production. On irrigated land Sudan grass can be sown as late as July 15, but for heavy proproduction planting should be made about April 1. As Sudan grass seed is not always readily obtainable farmers should make sure at once of the amount they will need.

> The normal average yield of alfalfa in the Southwest is considered far below what it should be. Yields from 6 to 8 tons an acre are possible. The surest and quickest way of increasing the average yield of alfalfa is to see that the stands are thickened and maintained. Bare places in fields should be put in condition and reseeded, the best time for this being February or early March. Reseeding for the purpose of thickening thin stands should be done when the algrowth, which means in the fall or early winter.

The world's call for food this year makes the forage situation of unusual importance. In past year large amounts of grain have been cut for hay, but this plan will be largely abandoned this year so that more mature grain can be produced.

Governor Stanley will be asked to issue a proclamation for the State of Kentucky, and the Mayor of Louisville and of every city in Kentucky will be requested to issue a proclamation to the people of his municipality.

County Chairmen from over Kentucky assembled in Lexington on Friday and heard the details of the plan for the big drive from the lips of Federal Director Lyon, Chairman J. E. Kavanaugh, of the Section of State Organization, and Ward Burgess, of Nebraska, who originated the idea, and who secured pledges for the entire quota of the State during a week's drive similar to that which is to be put on in Kentucky in June.

War Savings workers throughout Kentucky will take notice of the splendid move of the State Council of Defense in calling War Conferences to be Railroad Administration that each held at county seats throughout the State, beginning immediately, for the pur. road affairs would be disturbed as pose of arousing the people to war conditions and enlisting their aid in the little as possible and that staffs of various Government and other valuable war activities.

Representatives of all war activities are urged and invited to participate tained. The Federal director for in these Conferences and present their cause to those who are gathered to-gether. These Conferences afford an especially splendid opportunity to War Savings workers in every county. Our campaign is on for the entire year. Many of these meetings will be held during the present month of May, and in such counties the County Chairman and his organization must co-operate most gions-the Allegheny, consisting of actively with the representative of the Council of Defense in getting up the meeting, as it will count very materially with you in the big June Drive which is just ahead of us. Where the Conference is to be held in a county during the time of the Drive it will be a big booster for our activity, and where it is to be held afterward, during the summer it will help to keep up interest in ours as well as the other war activities, and will materially help in your follow up campaign to see that those who pledge themselves in the June Drive meet their pledges and keep on saving and buying Thrift Stamps and War Savings

A general program has been mapped out by the Kentucky Council of Del fic in the East also will be fense, which doubtless will be varied in different communities, as special by the new arrangement. speakers are secured for occasions. The general program is as follows:

10:00 a.m.—A mass meeting will be held and the program will consist of devotional exercises, community singing, and speeches by noted patriots, thinkers and orators.

1:30 p.m.—The fathers, mothers, relatives, and all members of the families of the soldier boys who are already in military service, as well as as all those who have boys who will be in the approaching draft, are urged to attend this meeting. A special speaker, who is in touch with the war situation and who has a stirring message of patriotism, will address the meeting. The public is cordially invited to be present.

2:00 p.m.-Forum: Subject, "The Different War Organizations."

Representatives of the different war organizations, including Council of Defense, Food and Fuel Administrations, Liberty Loan, Women's War Work, War Savings, Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Four-Minute Men, Chambers of Commerce, Educational and Agricultural Organizations and all other patriotic activities, are urged to be present and participate in the discussions. No representative should speak longer than ten minutes.

3:30 p.m.—Representatives of the different patriotic activities will be given an opportunity to call their workers into a special meeting for the purpose of studying their specific problems and perfecting their organizations.

There is but one patriotic business before the liberty-loving people of the in the country. world today, and that is the monumental task of vanquishing an intoxicated militarism, of vindicating, perpetuating and defending human rights and liberties, and of carrying the flag of democracy to victory.

You can help win the war by attending the county war conference and studying the interpretations of the needs and the issues of the hour that will in the deuce of clubs is he goin' to made. You can help by using your influence in having a large delegation of citizens to attend from your community.

There is no one thing that will do more to awaken the patriotism of the people and make the Conference and all patriotic meetings a success than for the choirs of all the churches and the people of the entire community to assemble at mass meetings and engage in community singing. It is earnestly desired that the county council and all other patriotic organizations will get together in an earnest effort to develop community singing and make it a part of the program of the War Conference as well as a part of all patriotic programs which will be held from time to time in every section of the county. The Kentucky Council of Defense will furnish printed folders without cost containing the National Anthems and War Songs to all county councils desir-

Continuing, under the heading, "Will You Help?" the Council of Defense sends out the following valuable suggestions:

The home can help by attending the Conference and by using its influence in having the members of every home to attend.

The school can help by organizing itself into a war of publicity committee with a view of promoting every war effort, developing a positive patriotism, practicing community singing, attending the war conference and participating

The church can help by delivering a patriotic sermon on the crite of the hour, and by announcing the program of the war conference at its regular services, giving publicity to it and urging the people to attend.

The press can help by rendering invaluable assistance through its news and editorial columns, thereby giving publicity to the meeting and calling upon the people to give it earnest support.

The County Superintendent, who is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Council of Defense, can help by sending out a letter to the leading citizens of the county, especially to the trustees of the schools, calling their attention to the Conference and asking them to attend the Conference, to organize their school districts for the Conference, and to take advantage of the opportunities offered.

The farm demonstrator, who is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Council of Defense, can help by disseminating information among the masses and getting the agricultural organizations interested in the success of the meeting, and by participating in the program.

The high schools of the county seat and the county can help by practicing community and patriotic singing and adjourning on the day of the Conference and participating in the song service.

The different war organizations, including the Council of Defense, Food and Fuel Administrations, Liberty Loan, Woman's War Work, War Savings, Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Four-Minute Men, Chambers of Commerce, Educational and Agricultural organizations, and all other patriotic activities, can help by putting themselves affirmatively behind the Con ference and using such influence as they have in making the work of all of the different war efforts a success.

The Woman's organizations of the county can help by putting their splendid organizations to work in an endeavor to make the meeting productive of the highest results.

The Commercial Clubs and Chambers of Commerce can help to do effective work by arousing and informing the citizenship of their community concerning the seriousness of the war as well as ways and means of winning it by using printed posters or placards in conspicuous places throughout the Traveling men going over the county usually are most willing to render service by working up meetings.

The Four-Minute Men can help by calling the attention of the people to the work of the Conference. The Boy Scouts can help by advertising the meeting, by having demonstrations and carrying banners with appropriate mottoes and inscriptions upon them. Also in putting up placards and distributing advertising matter. The different choirs of the different churches, as well as all of the people of the county, can help by getting together and practicing community singing with a view to making it one of the leading features of the Conference. All others can help by talking about the Conference, by boosting it, and by getting the citizens of the county interested in it and its work. Persons desiring further information concerning the War Conference, should address the Publicity and Speakers' Bureau Committee, Kentucky Council of Defense, Bowling Green, Ky.
